

Gelrilla Grip™ adds TORQ® gels to its compatibility list and now comes in six color combinations

July 20, 2009

Today, Lynamid, LLC announces the addition of a new energy gel brand, TORQ® gels, to their comprehensive compatibility list for use on the Gelrilla Grip™. The UK based energy gel brand TORQ® has been thoroughly reviewed and field tested resulting in a consistent and successful loading and tear rate. The customer will realize the same level of reliability in use as shown with other common US based gel brands. Other European energy gel brands are currently being reviewed and will be recognized as compatible brands upon completion of successful testing.

Lynamid, LLC also announces the availability of six different color combinations of the Gelrilla Grip™. The customer can now choose from combinations of the black rail with either yellow, red, blue, black, silver, or clear clips. The different colored clips are also offered for separate purchase in sets of four allowing existing customers the ability to customize their current grips or to replace missing or lost clips.

The Gelrilla Grip™ can be purchased in the US online at www.gelrillagrip.com for the low price of $16.99 plus shipping and handling. International orders can be made from one of our many international distributors. A list of those distributors can be found at www.gelrillagrip.com. Headquartered in Little Rock, Arkansas, Lynamid, LLC is a sports products company that specializes in the development of equipment, gear, and accessories that seek to enhance the participant's overall enjoyment and performance in both recreational and competitive activities.
